RALEIGH, SATURDAY, AUGUST 14, 1858. HOLDEN & WILSON, STATE PRINTERS,

AND
AUTHORIZED PUBLISHERS OF THE LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES

The Result.

From the returns received, more than two-thirds of the State, we think Judge Ellis's majority will reach 17,000- probably more. In the Legislature we shall have a majority of from fifty to fifty-five on joint ballot. Where is "Distribution?" Where is the Register's candidate ?- a candidate forced, so far as the Register could force him, upon the opposition. What does the Register think of "Independent" gubernatorial candidates in general, and of Mr. McRae in particular? And, especially, what does it think of " Independent Distribution" candidates? Where is Venable?—the man that was to pull off his coat and roll up his sleeves for McRae. Where is Linn B., the special protege of the Register, and the man that swore Johnston must elect him?

"Like the baseless fabric of a dream," the fabrications of the Register and the hopes of disorganizers, distributionists and Know-Nothing-Whig-American-Republican-Samites, have gone

"Glimmering through the vale of things that were,"-A political tail, without body or head.

What are the cogitations of the Elizabeth City Sentinel, the Greensboro' Patriot, the Asheville Spectator, &c.? Will not their pale ghosts hover around the Register office, pointing their skinny fingers at Mr. Syme, and utter in sepulchral tones the startling words, "WE TOLD YOU SO?"

Col. Walter L. Steele.

It is with much pleasure that we announce the election of Col. Steele from the senatorial district of Robeson and Richmond. He carries Robeson by 204 votes, and Richmond by 40, making his whole majority 244, and this in a district heretofore regarded as hopelessly opposed to Democracy. For the first time in many years Richmond county gives a Democrat a majority. This is the county in which Col. Steele resides, and the vote shows in what estimation he is held at home. The people of the district have honored themselves in honoring such a man. At his own box he led his opponent 88 votes, while McRae beat Ellis 5 votes.

We learn that Col. Steele denounced distribution throughout the district as an infamous humbug, and appealed to all to sustain the Democratic party, as the only means to secure the rights and preserve the honor of the South. His triumph shows that his appeal was not in vain; and the heavy gain for Ellis in the same counties demonstrates the power of such an appeal. Gen. Dockery did all he could to defeat Col. S., and has doubtless groaned in the spirit that his efforts were so ineffectual. The election of Col. S. is a Democratic gain.

Hon. A. W. Venable.

We learn that Mr. Venable made a speech at Oxford a few days ago, (to vent his spleen, we presume, for his signal overthrow in Granville,) in which he abused "Holden"-an abuse, by the way, which seems to be the whole stock in-trade of broken down political hacks and petifogging aspirants, who have neither sense enough to entitle them to henors, nor honor enough to seek distinction upon their own merits. Meanwhile, Holden was enjoying the seabreezes of Beaufort, and feeling pleasant generally, conscious that he has reached a position in which he may well despise the ravings of senseless blackguards, the tirades of demagogues, and the slanders of old political fossils in general.

Just before Holden left, however, he drew a picture which entitles him to a high rank among the old masters. It is a picture of that extinguished personage, A. W. Venable, and it will go down to Posterity as a true likeness. It is so true, so lifelike, that we re-produce it, confident that it will be recognized and applauded by all who know the original. Here it is:

"Some people grow worse as they grow older. Age, instead of diminishing, appears only to increase their vanity, their ambition, and their evil passions. Mr. Venable furnishes a repulsive example in this respect. Faithless to his party, a deserter of his principles, a pretended friend to Mr. Buchanan, but really his enemy, justly consigned by the people to private life, he yet lingers upon the stage, ridiculed for his garrulity, avoided for his assurance and his vanity, distrusted even by those who use him, and detested by all true men as the embodiment of what-Soever is unreliable, and arrogant, and offensive, and selfish in public life. The people of Granville-his own neighbors-have no doubt ere this put the seal of their condemnation upon him, and buried him forty fathoms down amid the decaying fossils of the past. May he rest in peace."

Council of State. The Council of State, according to request of the Governor, convened in this City on Wednesday last, the 11th instant. Present, Capt. John Walker, President, Dr. G. C. Marchant, Col. N. M. Long, Dr. D. G. W. Ward and W. D. Bethel, Esq.

The Council was convened for the purpose of filling the vacancies on the Superior court bench occasioned by the resignations of Judges Ellis and Person. The following gentlemen were appointed: 1st Circuit-R. R. Heath, Esq., of Edenton.

5th Circuit-Jesse G. Shepherd, Esq., of Fay-

These are excellent appointments, and will give general satisfaction. Both gentlemen are able lawyers, of urbane manners and irreproachable char-

The resignation of A. A. McKay, of Sampson, one of the Council, was received, and Patrick Murphy, Esq., of the same county, was elected in his place.

A CORRECTION.—It is with much pleasure that we learn we were in error in classing the Commoners elect from Rutherford county among the opposition. We are informed that they are Democrats, though they were elected over the Democratic nominees. This was what led us into the error-an error we take much pleasure in correcting, as an act of justice to the gentlemen themselves, and as gratifying to our own feelings.

EDGECOMBE.—The vote of Edgecombe has heretofore been published at 871 for Ellis, 108 for McRae. The portion of Wilson county which votes with Edgecombe was not embraced in the above calculation. We publish the correct vote in our table, which is, Ellis 1400, McRae 198.

The majority for Dr. Ladson A. Mills, the Democratic candidate in the Senatorial district composed of Rutherford, Polk and Cleaveland counties, The Register --- Mr. Miller.

The Register still vents its spleen on Mr. Miller. No wonder. Some little allowance should be made for its spiteful temper. It can't help it. The result of the election, so signally disastrous to its spavined hobby and him who rode it, is enough to make one fret and fume. But the Register's misfortunes, dressed off by its ill temper, constitute no excuse for that malevolence, under the influence of which it would misrepresent facts to depreciate others. When it says, "that in places where Mr. Miller was best known his speeches told powerfully in favor of Mr. McRae," it is but rendering itself ridiculous. Mr. Miller made but one speech out of this Congressional district-in Halifax. That County voted for Ellis by 300 majority, being a gain on Bragg's majority of about 150. The friends of Mr. McRae boasted that they would reduce the majority in this County several hundred, yet they were beaten 881 majority, being a gain on Bragg's majority of 386 votes!-They were also to gain for McRae in this district upwards of one thousand votes, that being the fruit they expected from the huculean labors of Venable, Cannady, Arrington, Linn B. & Co., but the people were true to themselves and their ancient faith and gave a majority of over 3,000 for Ellis!

Linn B., Esq., bragged lustily that he himself would be elected with all ease, and that he would carry "his friend Duncan" through the contest in Johnston with flying colors, giving him a magnificent majority, but not only was the dashing 'suburban' chevalier unhorsed in the conflict, and his back covered with wounds received in an ignominious and timely flight, but the glorious Democracy of that County distributed a defeat to " his friend" to the tune of 200 majority!

If the Register finds any thing in all this to justify its spiteful depreciation of Mr. Miller, it is welcome. If this is what it means by "his speeches telling powerfully in favor of Mr. McRae," he, "my friend Duncan," might well complain of his organ, for making such cruel sport over his misfortenes. He has good reason to exclaim, "Save me from my friends!"

But the Register has really discovered that Mr. Miller was "of no force," none whatever, when he was a Whig, that all his labors were worthless, and brought defeat on his party! If this be so, then did the Whig press indulge in some tall deception. But such efforts to injure a man because he would not follow the Quixotic career of the Register, and abandon his duty to his country at the behest of party, will receive the condemnation they deserve at the hands of fair minded people. The railing and wrath of the Register will hurt no one. Let it distil its poison. The weather is hot and the elections are against it! It will cool off after a while and become a little more charitable. Come, neighbor! get a good-big water melon and eat it. They are cheap and plentiful.

Deep River Commission.

The commissioners appointed by the General Government to examine the Deep River country, in Chatham county, with a view to its eligibility as a site for a national foundry, are now on the ground in discharge of that duty. The commission consists of Capt. Charles Wilkes, S. M. Pook, Dan'l. B. Martin and H. Hunt.

We have received the following letter from Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, who is now engaged in his laboratory in Albany, N. Y. We regret, as he does, that he was not informed of the time the commissioners would be here, that he might have been with them and given them his valuable aid:

ALBANY, August 9, 1858.

Editors of the Standard: GENTLEMEN: I am exceedingly disappointed that I had not have heard of the appointment of the commission relative to the Deep River Foundry in season to have accompanied it to the field. I supposed that the matter had taken such a turn during the last days of the session, that no commission could be appointed, and had not the least expectation of hearing more from this matter, till the next session of Congress, if at all. I am sorry that I could not be there. I am well acquainted with Commodore Wilkes, who I am just now told is one of the commission. Still I do not know that my presence would alter the state of the question. I would like, however, to be able to make my report appear to be a faithful statement of the advantages of the location for the purpose named or proposed. It is now the 9th, and I am informed the commissioners left Washington on the 4th, so I can't possibly get there in season to be of use in this matter. I leave in a few days for N. C.

Most truly yours, E. EMMONS.

The last Register is something of a curiosity. It argues earnestly, and we may say successfully, to prove that Mr. McRae would have been elected if he had got enough votes; and also that the opposition would have had a majority in the next Legislature if it could have succeeded in electing a sufficient number of members. Good for the Register. It hits the nail on the head every now and then-and these are its "happy hits."

Messrs. Brooks and Clay.

Having heretofore published Mr. Brooks' card concerning the personal difficulty between himself and Mr. J. H. Clay, we have felt bound, in justice, to publish Mr. Clay's reply, which will be found in this paper. At the request of Mr. Brooks we published his card; and at the request of Mr. Clay we publish his.

DRY TIMES .- The weather remains remarkably hot and dry, though we are glad to learn there have been refreshing showers in some portions of this and adjoining counties. The corn and cotton crops are suffering greatly, and unless we have rain soon they will be cut short. Indeed, they have already sustained serious injury.

P. S. Since writing the above we have had a refreshing shower, but the ground is not wet much.

"The Standard makes a mistake in classing Mr. Turner as a Know Nothing. Though nominated by that party two years ago, he never was a member; and both then and now, and always, declared himself to be a Whig, and nothing but a Whig."--Hillsboro' Recorder.

Glad to hear it-think better of Mr. Turner-have some hopes of him yet; though we see little difference between eating the d-l and drinking his broth.

MAIL AGENTS .- We learn that an arrangement has been made by the P. O. Department at Washington, by which Messrs. McGowan and Whitaker, mail agents on the Raleigh and Gaston railroad, and Mr. Ashton, mail agent on the Seaboard and Roanoke railroad, will run through from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Va. This arrangement is a very good one, and will suit the convenience of the three gentlemen named-three efficient officers and deserving men.

The Mountain District. The Salisbury Banner of Wednesday last contains the following: "Just before going to press, the following letter was placed in our hands:

MORGANTON, Aug. 9th, 1858.

DEAR SIR: Below you will find bad news for Democracy. 171 maj. for Vance, K. N. Bancombe. Henderson, Madison, Yancey, Rutherford. 239 Caldwell, " for Avery, dem. McDowell,

Vance is elected by at least 2,500 votes. Miller beats Dickson in this district 231. Caldwell beats Pearson in this county, 71. Gen. B. M. Edney is elected to the Senate in the Buncombe district.

With the exception of the Congressional vote, the Democrats make gains in all of the counties west of the Ridge as far as heard from. Ellis gains on Bragg's vote, except in this county, Caldwell and Rutherford.

GLEN ANNA FEMALE SEMINARY. - We have received a catalogue of this School for the past year, from which it appears the number of pupils in attendance was 178. This Seminary is beautifully located on the N. C. Railroad, at Thomasville, and now ranks among the first class schools of its kind. The location is healthy, easy of access, and the terms very moderate, the cost of board and tuition, English course, being only $43 per session of twenty-one weeks. For any particulars concerning the Institution address J. W. Thomas, Esq., President.

"THE LEGISLATURE. - As was to have been anticipated, and, indeed as the Democratic papers predicted, the main effort of the opposition has been directed to the Legislature, and, from various causes, all being summed up in Democratic divisions about men, they have obtained a partial success, so far as being able to make some gains goes. These gains may decrease the Democratic majority in the coming Legislature to more manageable proportions, but they will fail to make any impression, or to offer one ray of hope to the anxious aspirants after Senatorial honors. O, Father Abraham, Father Abraham, surnamed Venable, but you have brought your pigs to a bad market. Father Abraham, you have sold yourself cheap, and have not got the money. And you, companions in affliction, Messrs. Arrington, McRae and Sanders-Linn B. Sanders,-we sort of feel bad for you, but it serves you right, you ought to have had better luck and been better Democrats. Woe is me, Alhama!"- Wil. Journal.

Verily the foot of the disorganizer slides on sltppery places, and brings the head low-even to the bottom, as father Abraham, Arrington, McRae, Linn B. and others can testify.

HARD HIT.-The Baltimore Clipper, an original K. N. paper, makes the following hard hit at "Independents." The Clipper clips its brother Register

AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE. - There is no delusion in political life equal to the resort of defeated demagogues, in bringing forth an independent candidate at those peculia perriods when their party is in a hopeless minority. During such seasons and thenonly they get fully convinced of the necesity of seperating city officers and party, and in the event other trick being a successful one, some victim is selected to be pulled and torn by irval factions dissppointed wire pullers, damned ingratitude by each side, and when the brief term of office expires, the used tool retires unappreciated and unregretted (even if he honestly strove to do his duty), by those his very election secured patronage to. In the whole history of popular elections, these creatures have never been honored by a re-election. They may in some cases have accomplished their purposes by breaking down a party to which they had hitherto professed fealty, and foisted a set of vampires on the community, the outcasts of both political associations, but they universally have been looked upon as traitors to each faction to whom their elevation was due, and have retired unwept and unsung to the merited oblivion of private life with far less character than when they emerged from it.

We learn that A. H. Curran, U. S. Deputy Marshal, died at Elizabeth City, in this State, on the 7th instant. He had been in feeble health for some

GOOD ADVICE DISREGARDED .- The following extract, italics and all are taken from a letter written at the National Observatory, Washington, on the 28th of March, 1857, to the Atlantic Telegraph Company, upon the best time for laying the cable and which has happily proved to be the very best: "Nevertheless, the enterprise upon which you are engaged is an important one. Good weather for t is very desirable, nay, almost indispensable; and these barometic anomalies are suggestive. Perhaps t would be wise for the stcamers not to join cables until after the 20th of July. I thing between that time and the 10th of August the state of both sea and air is usually in the most favorable condition possible; and that is the time which my investigations indicate as the most favorable for laying down the wire. I recommend it, and wish you good luck. - Yours,

N. F. MAURY."

LAYING THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

MR. FIELD'S LOG OF THE EXPEDITION. The Niagara arrived at the rendezvous on the 23d of July, the Valorous on the 26th, the Gorgon on the 27th, and the Agamemnon on the 28th. The splice was made on the afternoon of the 29th. At 7.45, evening, the signal from the Agamemnon ceased and electricians reported a want of continuity in the cable, but insulation perfect. Kept on pa out, and at 11.80, p. m., the Niagara again received perfect signals from the Agamemnon, miles. Depth 1,952 to 2,400 fathoms. August 2.—Distance 154 miles; paid out 177; depth 1,600 to 2,300 fathoms; the Niagara getting light and rolling much; not considered safe to carry sail to steady the ship, for in case of accident it might be necessary to stop the ship as soon as possible. At 3.38 this morning imperfect isulation detected in sending and receiving signals, but all right again at 8.40; the fault was discovered to be in the ward-room, or in about 60 miles from the lower end of the cable, which was cut out and taken out of the the cable was landed from the Niagara.

At six o'clock the end of the cable was carried to the telegraph house, where a strong current was received from the other side of the At'antic. Captain Hudson then read prayer and gave thanks to God for the successful termination of the enterprise; after which he made some appropriate remarks.-At one o'clock, p. m., the Gorgon fired a royal salute, or twenty one guns.

August 6 — Have been receiving strong electric signals from Valentia Bay all day. Note.-Have landed here in the woods, and until the itstruments are ready and perfectly adjusted communications cannot pass between the two centinents, but the electric currents pass freely.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE PRESIDENT. A telegraphic despatch from Bedford Springs says that on Friday last a large crowd assembled there to congratulate President Buchanan on the success of the telegraphic cable. It was estimated that fifteen hundreed persons were present. The news of the arrival of the Agamemnon and the successful landing of the two ends of the cable caused much satisfaction. During the afternoon the following reply to the President's despatch was received from Mr. Field: TRINITY BAY, August 7.—To his excellency James Buchanan, President of the United States, Bedford Springs: Your telegraphic despatch has been received We landed here in a wilderness, and until the telegraph instruments are all perfectly adjusted no message can be received over the cable. You shall have the earliest intimation, but some days may elapse before all is effected. The first message from Europe shall be from the Queen to yourself, and the first from America to England your reply. With great respect, very truly your friend, CYRUS W. FIELD.

CAPTAIN HUDSON TO THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY. STEAM FRIGATE NIAGARA,

Trinity Bay, August 8, 1858. Sin: We landed one and a quarter miles of the Atlantic cable at 6, a. m, on Thursday, the 5th .-The electricians report the insulation and continuity perfect, and are busily engaged in preparing the battery for the reception of Queen Victoria's message to President Buchanan. The Niagara is fogbound, and was to have started this morning for New York, stopping on the way at St. John's for The officers and crew are all well. The Agamemnon has safely landed her end of the cable.

Respectfully, your ob't. serv't., W. L. HUDSON, Captain. Hon. I. Toucey, Washington.

THE LATEST FROM MR. FIELD.

TRINITY BAY, August 8, 1858. To the Associated Press, New York: Pray excuse what you may have thought neglect on my part in not giving more particulars about the laying of the cable, but I have hardly had time to eat, drink, or sleep. Mr. McKay, the superintendent of the New York and Newfoundland telegraph line, has been working day and night to get everything ready. The people here seem to have had little faith in the cable's arriving, and had made very slight preparation for re-

The end of the Atlantic cable was landed on the Irish shore from the Niagara on the 5th of August, 1857, and the other end from the same vessel on the 5th of August, 1858. The telegraph fleet sailed from Plymouth on the experimental trip on the 29th of May. The cable was broken at the stern of the Agamemnon on the first attempt to lay it on the 29th of June; and the splice in mid-ocean on the last and successful attempt on the 29th of July. Hoping to soon see you, I remain, very truly, Further Intelligence from the Cable.

TRINITY BAY, August 9.—The steamships Niagara, Gorgon, and Porcupine left this morning for St. Johns, N. F., having duly performed their great mission; after coaling at St. Johns, these vessels will proceed to their respective destinations.

NEW YORK, August 9 .- We understand that the recording instruments and various apparatus for transmitting intelligence over the ocean cable are in such a state of forwardness as to insure the early opening of the line for business. It is understood that the transmission of the Queen's and President's first message through the cable will take place early in the afternoon, and probably in the course of the present week. Instantly after the transmission of the President's reply, the two communications will, by consent of the President, and through the cooperation of the managers and employees of the telegraph lines of the country, be made public from Newfoundland to Texas and from Quebec to the boundary of civilization in the Northwest. We have also assurance from all points that so soon as the Queen's and President's messages are received, there will be public and private demonstrations of joy by ringing of bells, firing of salutes, etc. etc., in every city, town, and village throughout the whole country.

It is understood that Mr. Field will cause notice to be given in advance of the day when the first messages will be transmitted through the cable.

Atlantic Telegraphic Cable. St. Johns, Aug. 10 .- A despatch from Cyrus W. Field at Trinity Bay, dated this morning says, that everything in connection with the Atlantic Telegraph is progressing satisfactorily.

DEAR TELEGRAPHING .- The New York Herald says that the cost of transmitting one column of news from England, by the Atlantic Telegraph cable, will be two thousand dollars.

Later from California .- The Frazer River Furore. A Collision .- California and Oregon Politics, &c., New York, Aug. 11.—The steamship St. Louis from Aspinwall arrived here to-day.

The Star of the West had sailed from San Francisco on the third with $1,500,000 in gold, and California dates to the 20th. The Frazer River excitement was somewhat abated. Forty vessels left San Francisco during the fortnight for the new gold regions.

There had been a collision between the Merced Mining Company and Fremont's men at Pine Tree Drift. The former made an armed attack upon the latter, who kept the assailants at bay, and applied to the Governor for aid. The Governor called out the military when the assailants, decamped, leaving Fremont in possession. There is a strong contention among the democrats of California for the possession of the nominating convention. The contest lies between the Administration men and the Douglas party under Broderick. The Oregon Legislature has chosen Gen, Lane and Delazon Smith, U.S. Senators.
